Xact Check Opens New York Office

Growth in customer base and demand for Xact Check solutions fuel expansion

NEW YORK—June 24, 2008—Xact Check, Inc., leading provider of employment screening services, announced today the opening of a new office in New York to service an increased demand for Xact Check's background screening and identity verification solutions in the Northeastern United States. The launch of the New York office will expand Xact Check's ability to offer local sales and services necessary to support its rapidly growing base of customers and prospects in the region.

Corporations in the Northeastern United States are strong adopters of Xact Check screening solutions, particularly in the staffing services industry where the security, dependability and validity of hiring methods are critical.

"We have seen substantial growth in our customer base and level of interest in our employment screening and identity verification solutions," said Felix Ressenberg, VP of Online Development. "Our customers are expanding their commitment to ensuring the reliability and performance of their hiring methods, and with that commitment they are expanding their use of Xact Check services. The New York office will allow us to deliver exceptional sales and support to our customers and to the growing prospect base in the region."

Xact Check provides access to the most extensive records and networks found worldwide. With the vast investigative background experience of Xact Check's employees and the hands-on management Xact Check provides on a project, a partnership on Xact Check is a 'win-win' for those seeking a valuable alternative to the traditional employment screening model.
